Teacher Highlights

Miss Missy (Preschool Teacher) : Pp week was perfect with pink and purple letter Pp, yummy pizza slices, cute polar bears, sassy pigs, cool penguins! We also cut into our class pumpkin to discover what is inside! That was a nice science lesson about how pumpkins grow and all of the things we can make with them!! Now onto letter Nn! Nemo, nine, newspaper, narwhal...Thank you for signing up for our party supplies! Our Harvest parties will be next Tuesday and Wednesday! We have been thanking God every day for beautiful fall leaves and squirrels and acorns. Thank you so much for reading to your kids every day and visiting the library!! Have a great week

Miss Vanessa (PreK Teacher) : Whoohoo! Last week was packed full of so much fun and learning. Getting messy with red and blue paint, in order to find out when you mix them it makes purple, was so much fun! We also practiced drawing shapes, and made pictures of our pets, parents using some basic shapes. Our class had to put on our thinking caps to find and decipher clues during our pirate treasure hunt. We had a super awesome pre-k party to celebrate the letter P and all the progress the class has made already this year. On our party day we had party hats, decorated the class with streamers, played "keep the balloon in the air" and had a dance party. Last week was also fire prevention week. All week our class discussed who to call if they have an emergency as well as pretend dialing 911 on the smart board. The kids learned that when there is a fire it is safer to get low and crawl to safety. Both the preschool and pre-k classes participated in fire drills at the school on Wednesday and Thursday and Friday was our field trip to the fire station. Like I said our week was packed. This week will hopefully just as fun! Our letter this week is "Nn" and our sight word is go. We will continue to work on writing and spelling first and last Names. Working on our math skills with Numbers is on the agenda this week. Our class will learn about Nocturnal animals. We will be working with Noodles, and making Nests. And don't forget Wednesday October 19th is also our Harvest party, which will be LOADS OF FUN!
